Course Description
This core seminar is required of all MA students. The course examines theoretical approaches that are central to the study of media, culture, and communication. It will provide students with a historical and critical framework for understanding the literature and research tradition within the field of media studies.

Required Texts
Books:

Articles / Excerpts from books:
These will all be made available on Blackboard.

Helpful Background Readings:
Dictionaries / Encyclopedias:
1) The Blackwell Dictionary of Twentieth Century Social Thought, Eds. William Outhwaite & Tom Bottomore, Malden, MA: Blackwell. Provides a good for overview of terms and terminologies, social theories, social movements, main bodies of social thought and social institutions.

2) Key Concepts in Communication and Cultural Studies, Eds. Tim O'Sullivan, John Hartley, Danny Saunders, Martin Montgomery, John Fiske. New York: Routledge. Not as in-depth as you'd want it to be, but does cover the communication/cultural/media field's main terms.
Books:
1) Critical Communication Studies: Communication, History and Theory in America, Hanno Hardt. New York: Routledge. A good historical overview of the intellectual and professional forces that have shaped communication research in the US.

2) An Introduction to Theories of Popular Culture, Dominic Strinati. New York: Routledge. A good, quick guide to major theories of popular culture in Western thought (European and American).

Expectations and Grading
- Class Participation: 10%
  - Timely, active and intelligent participation in class discussions. Graduate school is not the place to shy and quiet!

- Leading Class Discussion: 10%
  - Every week, selected students will be in-charge of summarizing readings, bringing up discussion questions and relevant examples, and leading class discussion.
  - Depending on class-size, this may be done in groups.

- 6 Short Essays / Response Papers: 80%
  - Short essays based on careful and critical reading of the assigned texts; between 800 – 1100 words each. Must be posted on Blackboard no later than 6pm on the eve of class.
  - Details to follow.
  - You will have the option of re-writing one essay of your choice, due no later than 12/10 by 2pm.

Grading Policies
- Students with special needs, either with physical and/or learning disabilities, or religious observances, must come talk to me at the beginning of the semester in order to assure any special needs: extra time for papers; access to materials, etc. Moreover, any student who needs an accommodation due to a chronic, psychological, visual, mobility and/or learning disability, or is Deaf or Hard of Hearing should register with the Moses Center for Students with Disabilities at 212-998-4980, 240 Greene Street, www.nyu.edu/csd
- Late papers will be graded down by -.1 for every day late (24 hours from beginning of class, including weekends and holidays). Papers and assignments will not be considered once they are more than 4 days late (including weekends and holidays) and will automatically result in an F (0%).

- Prompt and regular attendance is required. Your participation grade will be lowered by -.2 for every absence. Notify me in advance if you are going to miss a class or a deadline. You will need a legitimate excuse (doctor’s note, etc.)
- You are expected to abide by NYU’s and Steinhardt’s standards of Academic Integrity. Cheating or plagiarizing the work of another will result in an automatic “F” on the assignment. Additionally, departmental and university policy permits harsher actions, if warranted.

Grading Scale and Standards
Grading will be done on a 4-point scale

A (4.0) = Excellent. Outstanding work in all respects. Work demonstrates comprehensive understanding and presents thoughtful and creative interpretations, well-focused and original insights, well-reasoned commentary and analysis.

B (3.0) = Good. Work demonstrates complete and accurate understanding of course materials, presents a reasonable degree of insight and broad level of analysis. Work reflects competence but stays at a general or predictable level of understanding.

C (2.0) = Adequate. Work demonstrates adequate understanding but remains superficial, incomplete, vague or expresses some important errors or weaknesses. Work may lack concrete, specific examples and illustrations; writing may be vague or hard to follow.

D (1.0) = Unsatisfactory. Work demonstrates a lack of understanding and fails to express basic aspects of the course. Participation was inadequate or superficial.

F (0) = Failed. Work was not submitted or completed according to parameters (page length, topical focus, types of sources), or completely failed to express the most basic and elementary aspects of the course.
Schedule
The syllabus is a roadmap at best. While it is intended that the course will follow the schedule, modifications along the way are inevitable. Please refer to Blackboard for up-to-date schedule and PDF’s.

Readings are to be completed BEFORE class. Come to class prepared to discuss all the readings. Background readings are strongly recommended for everyone, especially class discussion leaders, and/or those with little background knowledge of media studies.
