Assistant Professor, Tenure-Track

Digital Media

The Department of Media, Culture, and Communication in the Steinhardt School of Culture, Education, and Human Development at New York University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin September 1, 2012.

We are seeking to fill a position in the area of digital media, open to candidates from a wide range of sub-areas and methodological perspectives, such as digitally mediated communities, digital humanities, software or platform studies, the ethics or epistemology of IT, and information policy. We prefer applicants with a demonstrated appreciation of multi- and interdisciplinary research and scholarship.

The Department of Media, Culture, and Communication is home to 28 full-time faculty and serves approximately 750 undergraduate majors, 120 MA students, and 35 PhD students. NYU's dynamic Global Network University includes NYU Abu Dhabi and international programs and academic centers around the world. The department is active in the NYU Global Network University, with a particular emphasis on sites in Paris, Prague, Buenos Aires, and Shanghai. NYU Steinhardt faculty may be afforded the opportunity to work at these global study and research sites. For more information see: http://steinhardt.nyu.edu/mcc/

Qualifications: Qualified candidates should have a Ph.D. and an active agenda of research, publication, and teaching.

Responsibilities: Responsibilities will include maintaining an active agenda of research and publication; undergraduate and graduate teaching and advising; and department and university service.

NYU is committed to building a culturally diverse educational environment and strongly encourages applications from historically underrepresented groups.

Applications: Please apply online with a cover letter, CV, names and contact information for three references, and a brief sample of work to:
