Undergraduate Spring Break Policy

Early Childhood and Childhood Education students may take off the week of spring break. Students opting to do so, however, are required to make up the student teaching hours they would miss. Those hours must be negotiated with the cooperating teacher and field supervisor by the third week of the spring semester. As part of the agreement, students will submit to their supervisors and cooperating teachers a schedule detailing the make-up dates.

It is the supervisor’s option to conduct the On-Site Seminar during the week of spring break. If a student misses class during the week of the scheduled On-Site Seminar, the student is responsible for the material covered and any assignments due.

*Any personal variation of this calendar (such as an early leave, etc.) MUST be approved by the following people: NYU department faculty, NYU supervisor, and your cooperating teacher.
