

Spring 2011 Undergraduate Internship Opportunity!

Legacy, a public health non-profit organization seeks a bright, hard-working student to join our New York City-based development department as a Spring 2011 intern.

The internship duration is mid-Jan. 2011- mid-Mar. 2011. The Intern is eligible to participate in the program for up to two semesters.

Internship Description:

Provide day-to-day support for development team, assisting with direct mail programs, gift acknowledgements, preparation for fundraising events, funding proposals, online research, online projects and other development/fundraising efforts as needed.

Organization Description:

The American Legacy Foundation® (Legacy) is dedicated to building a world where young people reject tobacco and anyone can quit. The foundation develops programs that address the health effects of tobacco use, especially among vulnerable populations disproportionately affected by the toll of tobacco, through technical assistance and training, partnerships, youth activism, and counter-marketing and grassroots marketing campaigns.

Ideal candidate is a current student pursuing his or her undergraduate degree. An interest in public health or tobacco control is a plus. Those interested in applying should send their resume, references, and answers to the following questions (in 250 words or less).

- Why are you interested in interning at American Legacy Foundation?
- What do you hope to contribute to Legacy during your time as an intern?
- How will this help you in your future career?
