Eligibility

- Applicants must be matriculated students in good standing in the Ph.D. program in Media, Culture, and Communication.
- Applicants must show evidence of participation in a scholarly or professional conference (i.e. presenting a paper/poster, organizing a conference, etc.). Attendance only cannot be funded.
- Students may apply while awaiting confirmation of acceptance from the conference organizers. No checks will be issued without receipt of this documentation.
- Students are eligible to receive one grant per academic year. The academic year for these purposes is September 1 – August 31. If additional funds become available, the department will send out an open call for additional grant applications.

Instructions

Complete this form and attach the following:

- Confirmation of paper/presentation acceptance
- A brief description or abstract for the paper/poster you plan to present
- A breakdown of your conference expenses. This can include: conference fees, lodging, and travel expenses. Applicants will not receive funding for meals and entertainment.

Submit this form and attachments to MCC Graduate Advising.

Deadlines

Applications are reviewed on a rolling basis unless otherwise announced. Applicants will be notified of the decision within three weeks of submission.

Other Notes

- Students applying for the first time in an academic year will be given priority over students who have already received this award during the same year.
- Departmental travel grants are distributed as a reimbursement.
- Reimbursements will be given for conference fees, hotel/lodging, and travel expenses. Applicants will not receive funding for meals and entertainment.
